

SUPPLY CHAIN MATURITY ASSESSMENT

OBJECTIVES

Supply chains are now recognized for the revenue powerhouses they've always been. But ever changing economic, social, and regulatory climates require more agility, better On Time Delivery, more promises kept, more cost containment, more - lots of everything.

Companies want and need to change and transform to improve all the above to create competitive value.

But where to start?

What should you really fix?

SOLUTION

Your supply chain processes are enabled by the practices you choose and the capabilities your people bring to their work.

Without knowing where the actual gap, or, as is often true, combination of gaps, exists, you are left to guess where the best starting point is to optimize your supply chains.

With a formal assessment, you will stop having to guess and start improving the exact practices, skill sets, and system assets your supply chain optimization requires.

The ASCM Supply Chain Best Practices Maturity Assessment gives you the insight and data you need for effective decision making.
